About the workshop:

Dr Tessa Daffern worked closely with NESA to develop the new NSW English syllabus: K - 6. Drawing on that experience and insight, along with her extensive research in the field of spelling, Dr Tessa Daffern is uniquely positioned to explain the syllabus content points for the focus area of spelling.

In this workshop, Dr Tessa Daffern will share practical examples of what it looks like for a student to demonstrate achievement of each content point. In doing so, she will unpack the expected progression of learning for spelling. The new syllabus requires teachers to understand the metalanguage associated with spelling, and this workshop provides the ideal opportunity for primary school teachers in NSW to participate by asking questions that are specific to this focus area of the new NSW English syllabus.
